

From Mobile.

MOBILE, August 17.—Major General Frank Gardner assumes command of the Gulf District to-day. The people are pleased with him.

"Yesterday evening the enemy landed at Montrose in five launches. Our cavalry fired on them wounding several."

"Hopes are entertained of an early exchange of the prisoners at Dauphin Island."

"A force of the enemy from Pensacola, estimated at two thousand, crossed the Perdido River yesterday, advancing towards Mobile Bay. All quiet in the bay."

Late Bermuda papers mention the arrival there within a few days of seven blockade runners from Wilmington, each with cargoes of cotton, turpentine, and tobacco. One of these steamers had on board eight hundred and forty-two bales of cotton, another nine hundred and ninety, another six hundred and eighty-three, &c. Several steamers were preparing to sail for Wilmington with full cargoes of merchandise. Six blockade runners are at Halifax, all of which will attempt to get in at Wilmington. English papers state that blockade runners swarm the Clyde in greater numbers than ever before.

A dispatch from Nashville, dated on the 24th instant, states that Major General Dodge was wounded in front of Atlanta five days previously, and it was subsequently reported that he had died. He was shot in the head by a Confederate sharpshooter, whilst out on the lines. General Lightburn was also wounded in a similar manner about the same time.
